Alessandro Romagnoli, Luisa Mengoni : The Economic Development Process in the Middle East and North Africa (Routledge Studies in Middle Eastern Economies) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Economic Development Process in the Middle East and North Africa

(Routledge Studies in Middle Eastern Economies):

Offering a comprehensive analysis of the development of economies in the Middle East and North Africa over the past half century, this book charts the progress of these countries through an examination of an Islamic model of economic development, reform processes, and economic integration. Far from being a simple process, economic development in the Middle East and North Africa is dependent on the interaction of a set of changing systems including; international relations, the political regime, economy, and society. By analysing these interdependent factors, The Economic Development Process in MENA seeks to provide answers to the most pressing issues facing the economies in this area. Providing an interpretation of regional development in light of dialectics between state and society, this book will be of value to students and scholars with an interest in the Middle East, Economics, and International Relations.

About the Author Alessandro Romagnoli is Associate Professor in the Department of Economics at the University of Bologna. Luisa Mengoni is a Post-doc scholar at SDIC at the University of Bologna.
