From Routledge : The Foundations of Management Knowledge (Routledge Advances in Management and Business Studies) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Foundations of Management Knowledge (Routledge Advances in Management and Business Studies):

This volume brings together a group of leading academics from Europe, North America and Australasia to address a question of considerable contemporary concern: the nature and management of knowledge in relation to rapidly changing arenas of theory and practice. The contributors reframe management as a dynamic, creative and versatile field of knowledge that is both multidisciplinary and multi-contextual. The book provides a structured and informed set of readings for management educators as well as students and academics in the fields of critical management, organisational behaviour, human resource management and management development.

About the Author Paul Jeffcutt is Professor of Management Knowledge in the School of Management and Economics of Queen's University, Belfast.
